

Friendship with a tree

Theme – Touching trees using the cutaneous sense (touching sense).

Age – different ages

Place – in forest, in park

Time – 15 minutes

Group - even number

Auxiliaries – scarves for bind eyes

Play description

One of the partners have to bind eyes and the other takes it to the tree. Blind partner is touching the tree and trying to remember what kind of tree it is. Touch the bark with a cheek and fingers. Does this tree live? What's growing on the tree? What kind of sort are the branches? Is the tree in your age? Can you hug it? When blind partner has introduced with tree enough time, you should go back to start place, but not directly. Try to miss the tracks. Now you partner can open eyes and find out which is the tree, what he/she has touched. Now you have a new friend – a tree. Change roles with partner and play the pair game again.